

INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION FOR GLOBAL LEADERSHIP

1st year Discover

Explore new perspectives, build meaningful connections, and discover both the wider world and your own potential.

Imagine your role in society, develop solutions to real-world challenges, and shape your future direction.

2nd year Envision

3rd year Focus

Identify your academic passion, deepen your expertise, and pursue research through interdisciplinary and specialized study.

Connect your learning to future opportunities, clarify your aspirations, and take confident steps toward your goals.

4th year Link

Example Courses from Each Field

Language Studies

- Bilingualism
- Theories of Second Language Acquisition
- Advanced Seminar: Language and Identity
- Intercultural Communication in the Language Classroom

Translation and Interpreting Studies¹

- Introduction to Simultaneous Interpreting
- Topics in Translation and Interpreting
- Intermediate Translation 1/2
- Translation and Interpreting Practicum

¹Coursework requires Japanese academic language ability.

Communication Studies

- Introduction to Intercultural Communication
- Introduction to Media Communication
- Advanced Seminar: Intercultural Communication
- Advanced Seminar: Gender and Communication

Global Studies

- Contemporary Culture in Japan
- Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
- Transcultural Cinema
- Globalization and Gender

College of
INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION

As a PEACE Program student in CIC, you will choose which field(s) to focus on. Nearly all of the courses you will take with us will be alongside Japanese students who have academic English language skills. Because we promote and support plurilingualism, we hope you also aim to study Japanese so you, too, will come to take at least some academic courses in Japanese before you graduate.